WILL MURDER OUT?
Every hour of delay diminishes the probability of the arrest of the Nathan murderer, or at any rate of his conviction. If the assassin had any wounds received in the desperate struggle, upon his person, they must have been slight and are already healed. If he carried away any of the blood of his victim upon his clothes, the fire to which he consigned them on reaching his covert has destroyed the last trace of such proof. If there was a chance that the "hot blooded dog" could be made to serve the earnest desire of purpose of connecting the criminal with his crime, it would have been made available. If there was a single human being able and willing to put the police on the track of the savage who has appalled the city, that person would by this time have been induced by the large rewards to come forward.

There is the single hope left that some lucky accident will accomplish what energy and skill have failed to achieve, but if it should fail, and the murderer preserve his dreadful secret, it will be no unusual experience. No task trenches so closely on the impossible as the discovery of a murderer who leaves with his crime no distinct proof of his identity. We cited several prominent cases to illustrate this fact, in our remarks upon the Nathan murder last Saturday—the Burdell murder, the Rogers case, the Joyce case, and several others. Equally remarkable instances are the murder of Bartholomew Burke in 1856, who was literally hacked to pieces; the killing of Dr. Lutener in 1854, in broad day, as he sat at his office window in Broadway; the slaying of the jeweler Robinson a year since in Mamaroneck; and the burglar murder in Middletown a few nights ago. These are only the cases occurring in and near New York—in the whole country there are too numerous for concise enumeration. In all these instances the assassins have baffled discovery. In some of them suspicions that were never converted into proofs have always attached to certain particular persons. In others, and noticeably in those of Burke, Lutener, and Robinson, even suspicion was at fault, and the baffled detectives, after long and skillful labor, were forced to give up the investigation in despair.

But there are statistics upon this subject interesting in themselves, and at this moment valuable in allaying the general impatience at the failure of the police thus far in the Nathan case. During the thirteen years ending with 1868, 622 homicides were committed in the City of New York, and of this number 155 were by persons unknown. This, in exactly one-fourth of all the homicides occurring during this long period, murder did not out. It may be, indeed, that in many of the cases no great exertion was made to bring the perpetrators to justice; but the fact that in a large proportion of them whatever efforts were made proved barren, is a sufficient proof of the difficulty of unravelling any murder which is without eye witnesses. Every homicide tells its own story to an experienced eye in the position and surroundings of the victim until the point is reached of identifying the perpetrator, but there it stops, and leaves the detective to nothing more than guesses.

These facts are sufficient to displace the dictum that "murder will out" from the rank of an axiom which it has long unworthily held. Taking them all into consideration with the general statistics ought not only to diminish the amazement that the Nathan murderer is still at large, but also to save the police from too severe censure should they fail altogether. We are satisfied that Superintendent Jordan is doing all that is possible, and we hope for the best result; but we are aware that he is not gifted with the power of working miracles. He can only exhaust all detective agencies in the pursuit, and these may fail as they have so often done before.—N. Y. Tribune.

A LAW has recently been enacted in Prussia with respect to the liability of railway companies, and the proprietors of mines and manufacturing establishments, to pay compensation to those who are injured, and to the relations of those who are killed by accidents. In its present form, the measure enacts that railway companies are to pay compensation in all cases when they can not prove that the accident was caused by unavoidable circumstances, or by the fault of the killed or injured person; and the proprietors of factories, mines and quarries are liable whenever the accident has been caused by the fault or negligence of any of their agents, representatives or overseers. In case of death, the compensation is to include all the sick-bed and burial expenses, and if the sufferer has any person or persons legally dependent upon him at the time of his decease, the whole pecuniary loss which they suffer by his death is to be made good. In cases of bodily injury, all medical expenses are to be paid, and the sufferer is to be compensated to the full extent of the pecuniary loss to which he is subjected by his entire or partial inability to work.

The whole amount contributed this year by Christians of every name for the spread of the Gospel of Peace among heathen nations is estimated at $2,000,000, while the war system of Christendom alone cost for the same time $2,000,000,000, or four hundred times as much.

One of Disraeli's admirers, speaking about him to John Bright, said, "You ought to give him credit for what he has accomplished, as he is a self-made man." "I know he is," retorted Mr. Bright, "and he adores his maker."

The late James T. Brady once remarked that his experience among clients convinced him that a man's wife is his best lawyer.

MEDICAL.
BALTIMORE LOOK HOSPITAL.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Stricture, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Langour, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin. Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits in Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipating their doom.

YOUNG MEN
Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, and dread the destructive effects which usually attend on an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, especially those who are the victims of Solitary Vice, should be under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored. This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged. Physical and Mental Functions weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.
